PPS. Ponzano Primary School

Ponzano Primary School is a sustainable building in terms of energy and cost. The building is open to the community after school hours. The school is designed to accommodate 375 children aged from six to ten. It has 15 classrooms and additional special classrooms for art, music, computer studies, languages and science. It also offers a gymnasium, a canteen and a library. The school becomes a society building, where collective spaces are very important as they underline the central role of relationships between people. This concept is reminiscent of the model of the famous industrial districts of the Veneto region, where people are incited to learn from each other by exchanging experiences.

Nursery School in Covolo di Pederobba

Hidden among the vineyards and wheat fields, the Nursery School in Covolo comprises a collection of modest structures linked by a continuous series of stone walls. The new building forms an enclosure that both embraces and allows itself to be defined by the features of the landscape. A rough concrete wall is colored to match the surrounding landscape, reflecting light in various ways. The wall opens to the south, revealing the massive structure, before retracting and doubling, coloring itself to emphasize its passages. The overhang, the stabilized gravel paving, and the lighting transform the threshold into a space where classroom spaces and garden meet and form the imagination of a possible world.
