power politics architecture

In the past serving the powers of propaganda and in contemporary the more subtle and slippery financial one, architecture is revealed as a very ductile manipulator, itself manipulated by power and politics. The blur of the boundaries between the public and the private, together with the environmental urgencies of our times are introducing an epochal changing in the way architects act. How and by whom is form manipulated in different socio-political contexts? read more? www.stadenarchitectuur.be
