

Expo Pavilion Reloaded

Re-designing the temporary wooden structures of the pavilions of the Expo 2015, the summer school investigates the possibility of disassemble the structures in pieces with the aim of reassembling them in different places and ways, manipulating their spaces, parts and details. The political aim of the workshop is achieved through offering a series of local authorities within the neighbourhoods of Milan the real possibility of inheriting a redesigned structure to act as a free space for public use.
